Program

Remember when all teachers were to be "teachers of reading"—and those "strategy of the week" activities that teachers were asked to use whether or not they supported the curriculum or the learning goals? Thankfully, we now understand the importance of interdisciplinary literacy; reading, writing, speaking, reasoning and doing within the disciplines. With this approach, strategies morph into disciplinary tools that deepen student involvement and understanding in all subject areas. As students begin to use literacy the way experts do, they read and write about content, solve problems, ask questions, make decisions, discuss topics, and develop knowledge in a way that truly sticks. Join ReLeah Cossett Lent, author of This is Disciplinary Literacy, in an interactive workshop where teachers blend their subject expertise with relevant literacy practices that replace "covering" content with deep, engaged learning.

This learning opportunity is being offered through a grant from Alberta Education.

Presenters

ReLeah Lent

ReLeah Cossett Lent was a teacher for more than twenty years before becoming a founding member of a literacy project at the University of Central Florida. She is now an international consultant and writer. Her eighth book, recently published by ASCD, is titled Overcoming Textbook Fatigue: 21st Century Tools to Reinvigorate Learning

She writes and speaks on issues of literacy; engagement; censorship; and, most recently, meeting the Common Core State Standards with common sense.

ReLeah's first two books, coauthored with Gloria Pipkin, won the American Library Association's Intellectual Freedom Award and the NCTE/Slate Intellectual Freedom Award. ReLeah was also the recipient of the PEN/Newman's Own First Amendment Award in 1999. In 2012 she was awarded the Florida Council of Teachers of English President's Award for "significant contribution to the teaching of English in the state of Florida."
